

Table Ping Pong

This game is interesting if you have any residents that used to play like shot glass drinking games

Use a big egg crate and make a board painted like the picture

Regular way to play:

Put egg crate about 1 $\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 feet from resident on table

Give resident 5 ping pong balls

Have them bounce the ball towards the egg crate

They only get one chance with each ball

Add up the points of the balls that went in

Move onto the next player and continue

Continue playing and then add points together

High points wins

Play as many rounds as you want

Lower functioning rules

No rules at all or make up your own

We played where they can just toss the ping pong ball without it bouncing on the table

We have also played where I just let the person drop the balls in wherever they want

Played with a blind lady and she would take the ball and feel where she wanted to put it in the egg crate. She wanted to fill the whole egg crate with ping pong balls

This game is one of the favorites in our memory care unit
